

Jhett and Morgan Avery, d/b/a Avery Welding, have purchased the former Zimmel property in Verdigre. Avery welding is a family business that specializes in portable welding, cattle equipment manufacturing and repair. They had outgrown the building they rented before and saw this opportunity to expand with the purchase of the Verdigre property. It fits their needs as it was formerly a welding shop.

Knox County Economic Development Director, Kelly Hanvey, recommended the Averys use the Knox County Revolving Loan Fund program to finance their expansion. Northeast Economic Development, Inc. (NED, Inc.) provided business plan and technical assistance in applying for the Knox County funds. In addition to Knox County, NED, Inc. and the Averys partnered with Brunswick State Bank in Winnetoon to finance their project. Four jobs were maintained with plans to hire more in the future.
